MORE IDEAS THAN YOU'LL EVER USE FOR BOOK REPORTS:

<http://www.teachnet.com/lesson/langarts/reading/bookrepts1.html>

Truly a formidable collection of book report ideas...Let students get creative with their novel responses by conducting character interviews, drawing comics, writing different conclusions, writing a movie script for a scene, and more.

HALLOWEEN SPELLING:

<http://www.cdli.ca/CITE/halloween.PDF>

Here is a witchy worksheet for your third and fourth grade students this Halloween, with themed words to arrange in alphabetical order, and to match up in a word match exercise. An acrostic puzzle, word math, a writing exercise, word scrambles, and icicles are also included.

ALL ABOUT APPLES

<http://www.geocities.com/perfectapple/welcome.html>

All About Apples goes into some of the differences between apples in the states and Canada. (NOTE: In the past, websites from geocities.com have been blocked. However, this one opened right up for me today. Check it out before you send kids to it!)

eTheme RESOURCES

<http://www.emints.org/ethemes/resources/by-grade.shtml>

This collection of teacher-created resources offers one of the widest varieties of web-oriented lessons I've ever seen. You can search by title or by grade level.

CHOCOLATE LITERATURE RESOURCES

<http://www.mce.k12tn.net/chocolate/index.htm>

I think I have shared this site with you before, but who ever gets enough chocolate?? This site contains both printable and online chapter questions for a student study of several chocolate theme titles. Also find creative student activities based on the book, as well as a vocabulary printable.

AMERICAN HISTORICAL DOCUMENTS

<http://www.ourdocuments.gov/index.php>

From the site: "To help us think, talk and teach about the rights and responsibilities of citizens in our democracy, we invite you to explore 100 milestone documents of American history. These documents reflect our diversity and our unity, our past and our future, and mostly our commitment as a nation to continue to strive to "form a more perfect union."

PRESCHOOL/KINDERGARTEN SITES

Here are some great sites for our youngest students:

<http://www.noggin.com/>

<http://www.bbc.co.uk/cbeebies/storycircle/index.shtml>

<http://www.learningplanet.com/stu/kids1.asp>

<http://www.lil-fingers.com/storybooks/index.html>

http://www.literacycenter.net/lessonview_en.htm

<http://www.cogcon.com/gamegoo/gooey.html> (one of my all time favorite websites for elementary!)

http://www.tvokids.com/framesets/nook_new.html?game=66

<http://www.preschooexpress.com/index.shtml>

<http://www.mcps.k12.md.us/curriculum/pep/teach.htm>

Special teachers' section in Answers.com. In addition to facts, explanations and definitions, they offer free posters on the right sidebar. Lots of great stuff on this site!
